THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL. JOINT MEETING OF THE GRANGE AND THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Welcoming Addresses and Responses-The State Fair Discussed-Preparing for the Joint Summer Meeting-County Organization, Etc.

[Condensed from the News and Courier.] At half-past 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning the 5th inst. the joint meeting of the State Grange and the State Agricultural Society was called to order by Col. T. J. Lipscomb in the main room of the Hibernian Hall. There were from seventy-five to one hundred members and delegates present, representing Abbeville, Ander-son, Aiken, Barnwell, Darlington, Edgefield, Fairfield, Chester, Colleton, Kershaw, Newberry, Orangeburg, Oconee, Spartanburg, Richland, Union, Williamsburg, York and Charleston counties. The stage was occupied by Col. T. J. Lipscomb, Master of the State Grange, Mr. D. P. Duncan, President of the State Agricultural Society, President A. B. Rose of the Agricultural Society, President tee of the State Agricultural Society. Dr. A. B. Rose, the president of the Agricultural Society, delivered a brief address of welcome to the assembled representatives of the farmers of the State.

Mr. E. H. Frost, President of the Chamber of Commerce, in behalf of that body welcomed the visitors. He said I only come here as the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce to say how glad the Chamber is to have von meet in Charleston, and also to say that we will be glad to see you at the reading room. I am not an agriyou any further only to say that I am glad to welcome you here, and that in so saving I express the feelings of the Alderman J. B. E. Sloan, on behalf greetings on behalf of the visitors. He had listened with pleasure to the words of welcome that had been spoken, and he was glad to hear them from representatives of Charleston. He alluded to the past record of the city in peace and in war, and predicted that her future would be still more abundant in high examples and great achievements. Concluding he said: "We all feel that Charleston is our metropolis, that she is our seaport, our outlet to the sea. We cannot at present make as much progress in diversifying our close communion, and the visitors are extended to them, and to meet these expressions of welcome with the cordiality which should always mark greetings between the sons of South and promote the other. The committee appointed at the last meeting, to devise some plan to bring the county societies in official accord with the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society, submitted a report recommending that a special meeting every State of this broad land, allow of the Society be held, and the counties be invited to send delegates to the same, for the full consideration of the plan. The report was adopted. The president called the attention making a display at the New Orleans Exposition. He was sorry that Col. Batler was unavoidably prevented from being present, but the question was an important one to the State, and the society should discuss it.

Col. Lipscomb, after alluding to the recent domestic affliction that prevented the attendance of Commissioner Butler, said that he desired to correct a misapprehension that had seemed to prevail in some parts of the State concerning county exhibits at the exposition. It had not been proposed to organize separate county exhibits for the exposition. The plan was to take all the contributions that were sent and to without having radically remodelled label them with the name and county of the contributor. THE PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY. Annual Meeting of the State Grange-Thirty-eight Granges Represented-Fixing the Hours of Labor. [From the News and Courier.]

Husbandry assembled at the Hibernian Hall, Charleston, on Tuesday, the 5th nst., and was called to order by the Worthy Master, Col. T. J. Lipscomb. In opening the Grange Col. Lipscomb said that, in accordance with the sanction of the National Grange, he proposed to organize this meeting with open doors. If a majority of the members desired it the doors could be closed at a later stage of the proceedings. One reason for organizing the meeting with open doors was that there were many Patrons pesent who were not in standing owing to various circumstances whose counsel and presence were desired. Another reason was that the Order had been conducting its business in secret for fourteen years, and it was time now that its work should be done openly in the eyes of the world. The proceedings were then opened with prayer by the Rev. J. G. Richards, Worthy Chaplain of the Grange. The roll of counties was then called and thirty-eight Grangers were found to be represented, as follows: Abbeville-Saluda, No. 22; Greenwood, No. 9.

Having considered and concluded as to your interest and action as to the foregoing appertaining to the machinery of the Order in the State, then it behooves you to calmly and carefully survey the situation and condition of affairs in the State in which you are as agriculturists and citizens interested, using your organization to discuss and decide what is wrong and injurious and how to correct or remove it; what is good and desirable and how to obtain and secure it. This field covers much, such as taxation and expenditure, education, transportation, legislation, commercial affairs, trade and many others.

Have you been doing, or are you now doing, anything to control these matters and have them conducted in such a way as to secure you justice and equality with other classes and interests?

In the recent past you did exert decided influence. It was this Order that trained and educated the rural population of this State in organization and concert of action that enabled them to secure the redemption of our Colleton-Salkehatchie, No. 285; loved State in the political revolution of 1876.
